

METAPHYSICAL CRYSTALS

Window: This is a diamond shape "extra" face, large enough to give a view into the crystal. Said to function as a mirror of your interior, and able to reveal what you need to work with to evolve spiritually. This rare crystal feature can be a portal to discover the needs and evolution of your soul.

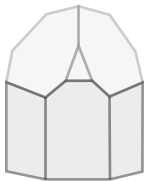

Time link: A parallelogram shaped face, that can incline to the left or right. To the left, it gives the ability to see and work with things from the past, and to the right, the future. Also said to give access to other dimensions and parallel universes.

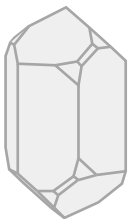

Isis Crystals: Named after the Egyptian Goddess Isis, these crystals have a distinctive five-sided face and are used for working with creative feminine power. They are excellent crystals for uniting, harmonizing, and integrating apparently opposing forces, such as male and female energy. This is an important crystal form for bringing equilibrium to sensitive people, comforting those facing death or transitional challenges, and helping men to connect with their inner feminine.

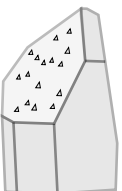

Channeling: A seven-sided face directly across from a triangular face at the point of a generator crystal adds the capacity to capture, receive, or "channel" information. The number "7" symbolizes the search for profound wisdom, and the triangle represents the potential of words and communication to reveal inner truths.

Transmitter (pictured): Has two seven-sided faces with a triangular face between them (7:3:7.) Aids in mental clarity, communication, and visualization, and can transmit spiritual information and universal wisdom. An excellent crystal for mental clarity. Dow: Has three seven-sided faces with triangular faces between them (7:3:7:3:7:3.) A very special master crystal form that can simultaneously transmit and receive (channel.) Excellent for inner work and self-realization, it represents the power of synergy.

Double Terminated: This form has a natural point on each end, and the ability to concentrate energy in the middle and make connections. One end will have positive polarity, and the other will be negative. Typically used to simultaneously transmit and receive energy between two points, chakras, people, or places, and facilitate telepathic communication.

Record Keeper: This rare and special crystal type has one or more small triangles etched into or raised slightly from the face. They can reveal ancient wisdom and secrets of the universe, transmit valuable lessons, and bring profound realizations. Excellent for meditation or personal crystals, it's best if they are reserved for your personal self development, and not touched or handled by others.
