Amethyst Flowers

Are rare, magical, and intricate crystal formations that have the ability to harmonize, integrate, and balance elemental forces.

Excellent for activating healing, love, and blessings, they provide a connection between the crown and heart chakras.

Their exquisite colors and flowing symmetry are a constant validation of how natural beauty inspires and nurtures on the earth plane.

Citrine

Promotes emotional balance, removes fears, and facilitates psychic perception.

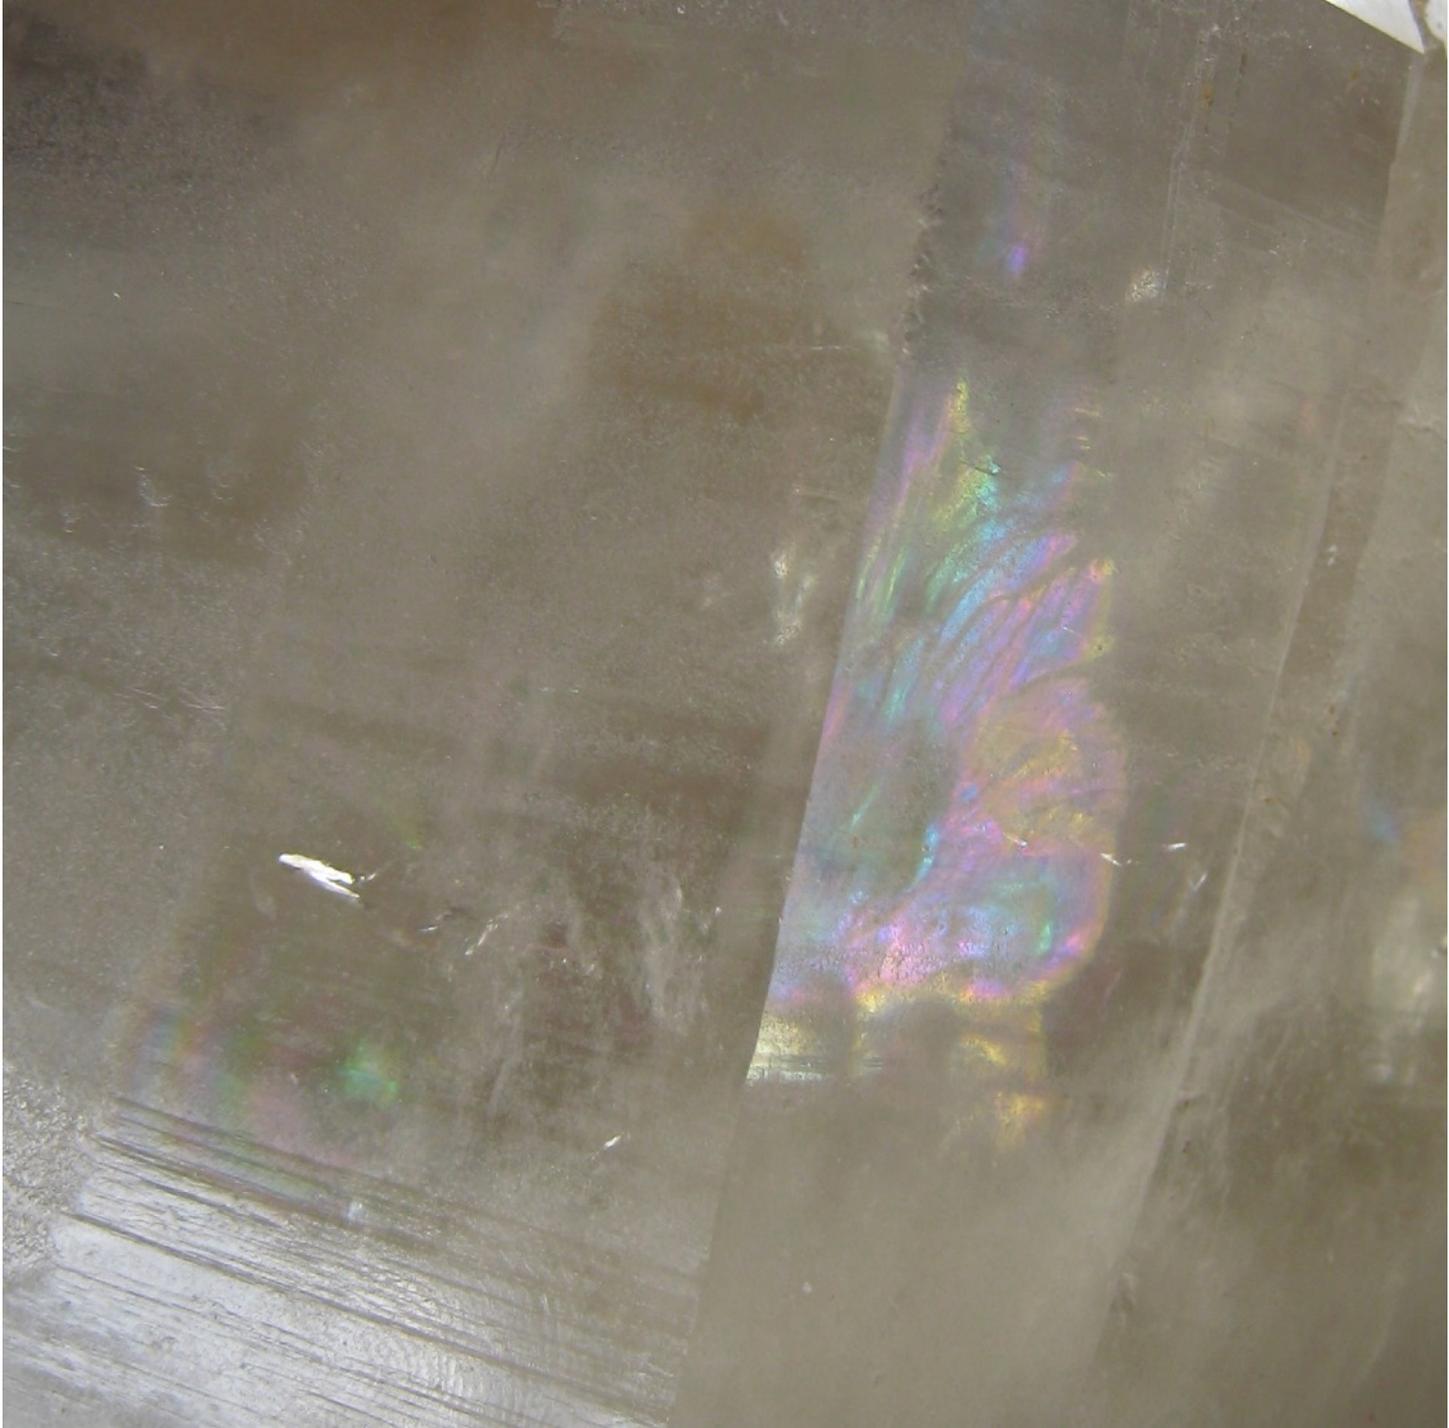

Alleviates depression and stress, brings clarity of thought and intention, and increases confidence and will power.

Known as the “merchants stone”, Citrine empowers prosperity, sharing, and generosity.

Physically, it supports any problem or treatment involving the digestive system, and helps with weight loss and eating disorders.

Clear Quartz

A master healer, it amplifies both energy and thought, as well as the healing effects of other stones.

Readily absorbs, stores, regulates and releases energy, making it an essential tool for many healing purposes.

Assists with clearing the aura, drawing off negative energies of all kinds, and removing energetic blockages.

Can be used for energizing, balancing and rejuvenating the physical, emotional, and/or physical body, and enhancing psychic and healing abilities.

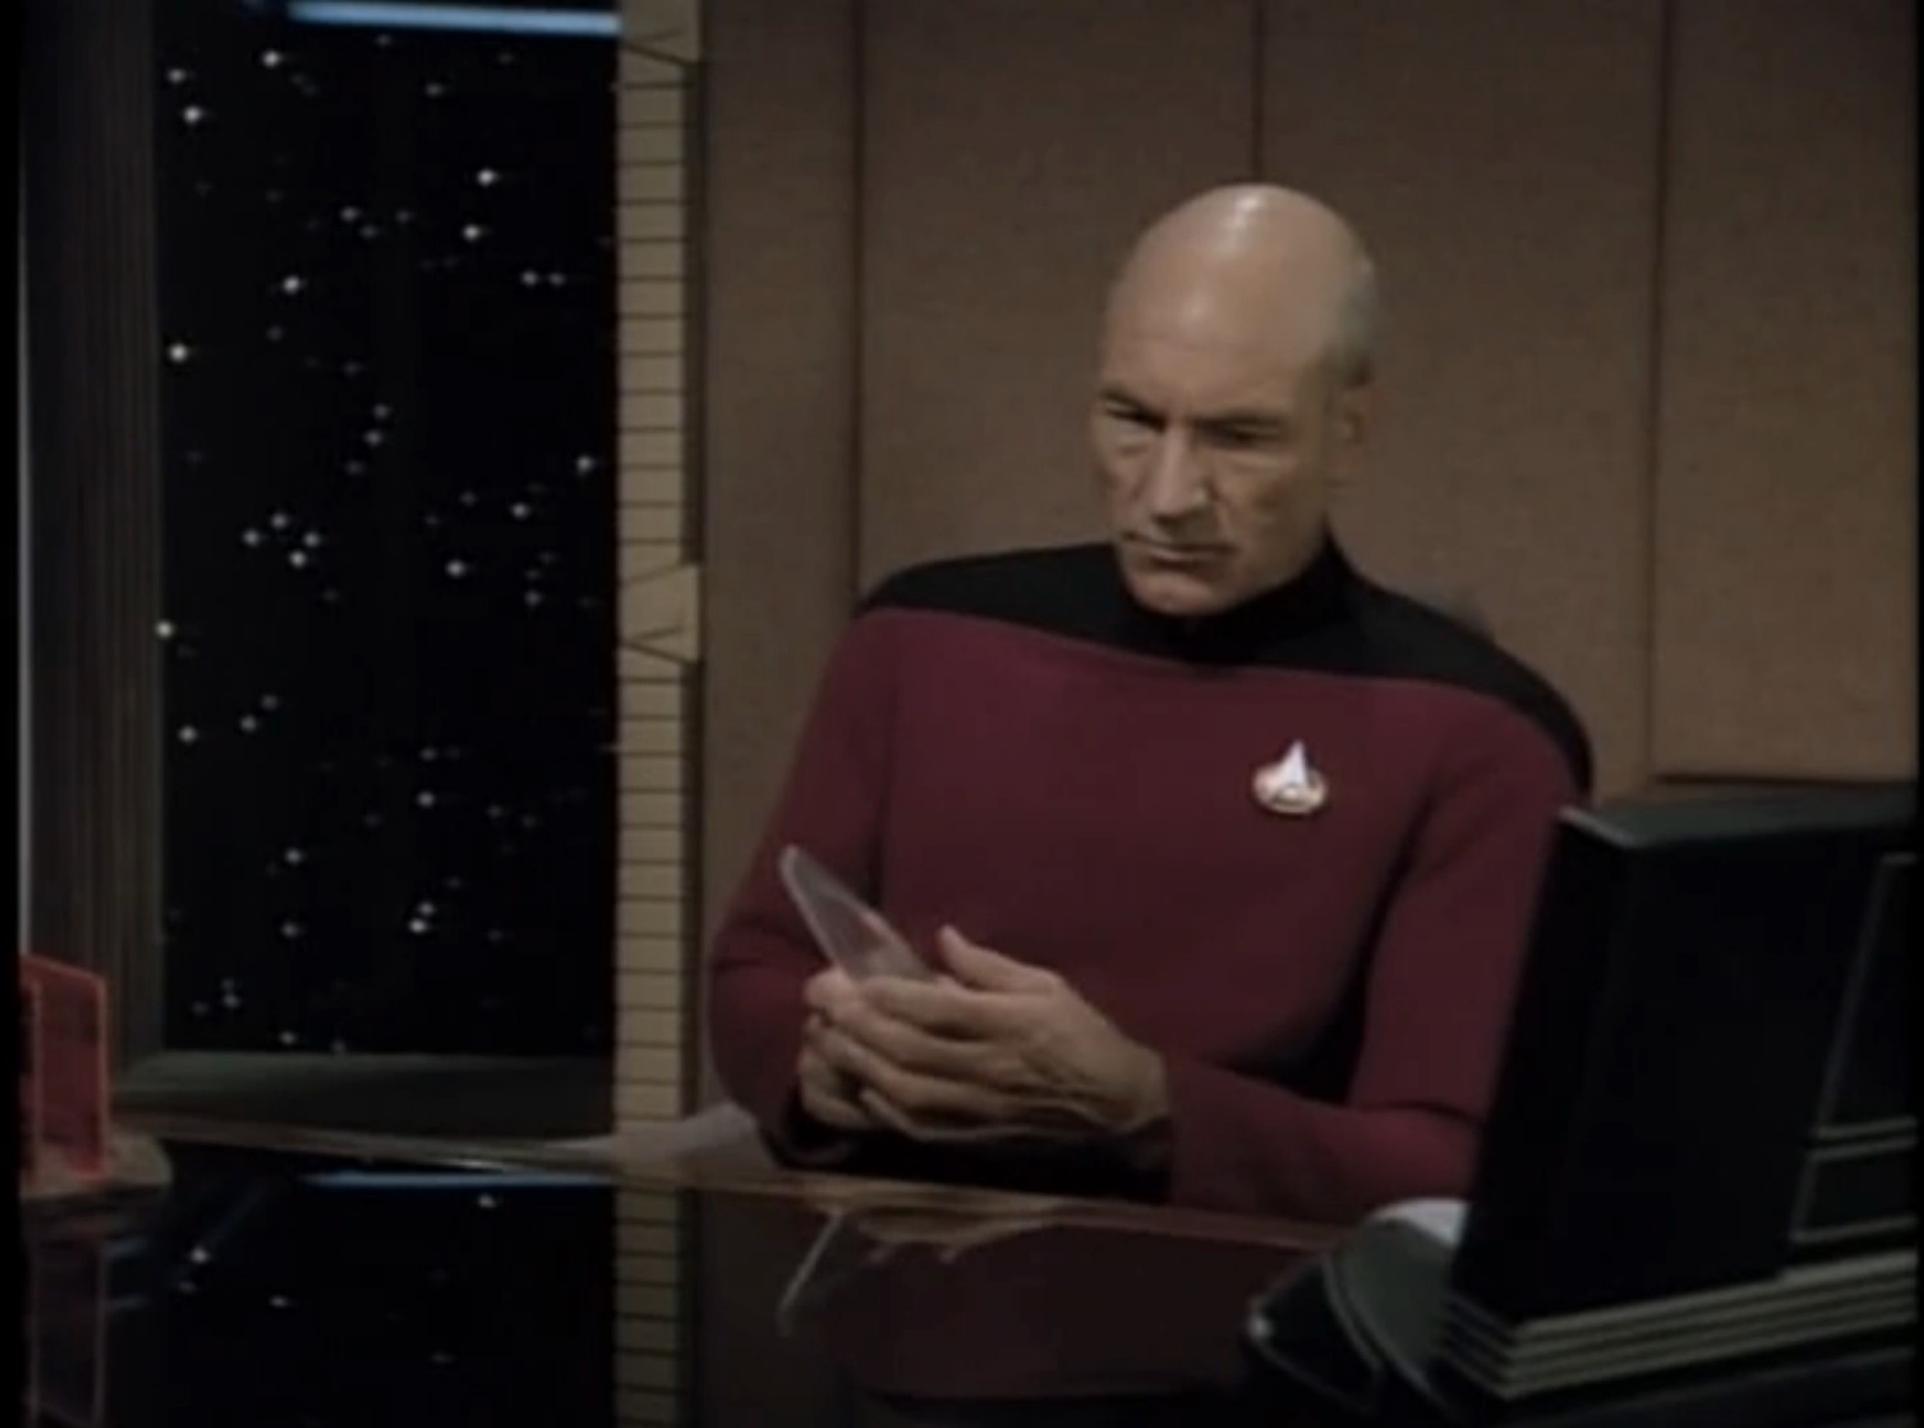

Rose Quartz

A fundamental heart chakra stone, it symbolizes the power and healing potential of unconditional love.

Through its gentle vibration, it brings remembrance of the essence of love, free from guilt and fear, and fosters forgiveness, higher consciousness, and compassion.

Helps to expand and create a new reality in life and with the universe, by providing the ability to reprogram the heart for developing and maintaining self love, esteem, and acceptance.

Elestial (Jacaré)

Are known in Brazil by the term “jacaré” (Portuguese for crocodile).

Fantastic and shamanic crystals, they are the only master crystals that aren't white or clear. Due to the conditions where they grow, they often have an internal structure like a skeleton, and can contain elements of earth, air, fire, or water.

Can liberate hidden emotions and eliminate negative blocks, for example in matters of love or work, and also erase or expel things you no longer want to carry within.

Use these crystals with care, and be prepared to know the complete truth.

They can work with the primary elements as well as angelic forces.

Earth Guardians

Also known as an "earth keepers" these are large to huge size crystals.

Their mission is to energize the chakras of the earth.

Difficult to find, they are generally discovered in areas of strong energy.

Their purpose is to guard and protect the planet. Very wise, they carry within the knowledge of the history of the earth, and typically have a profound and nurturing energy.

They can adjust a home, property, or region with their benevolent presence.

Smoky Quartz

Balances the spirit of the earth, and provides a protective shield against negative energies.

Helps on the inner path to transform shadows into light, stabilizes emotions, gives security by freeing one from fears and worries, and cures depression.

Encourages experimentation with new things, and develops an attitude of self acceptance in the process of learning.

Dissipates subconscious blocks and negativity on all levels, assists with dream awareness and channeling, and gives knowledge and connection with nature.

Black Tourmaline

Transmits electric and electromagnetic energy, and acts directly on the cellular level of the body.

Protects by repelling negative energies, and supports the immune system. Helps one maintain positive spiritual consciousness when living in big, polluted cities.

Selenite

Promotes mental and physical flexibility, strengthens comprehension and decision making, and clarifies the most important aspects of any situation.

Helps to align, remove blockages, and improve both upward and downward energetic flow along the spinal column, and facilitates cellular regeneration.

Activates the transpersonal chakras so that they can receive and connect with pure spiritual energy.

Can clear, clean, and energize other crystals, objects, persons, and environments simultaneously, and is a wonderful tool for energetic and healing activities.

Works well in connection with Hematite and Black Tourmaline to increase the range and power of intuition and meditation practices.

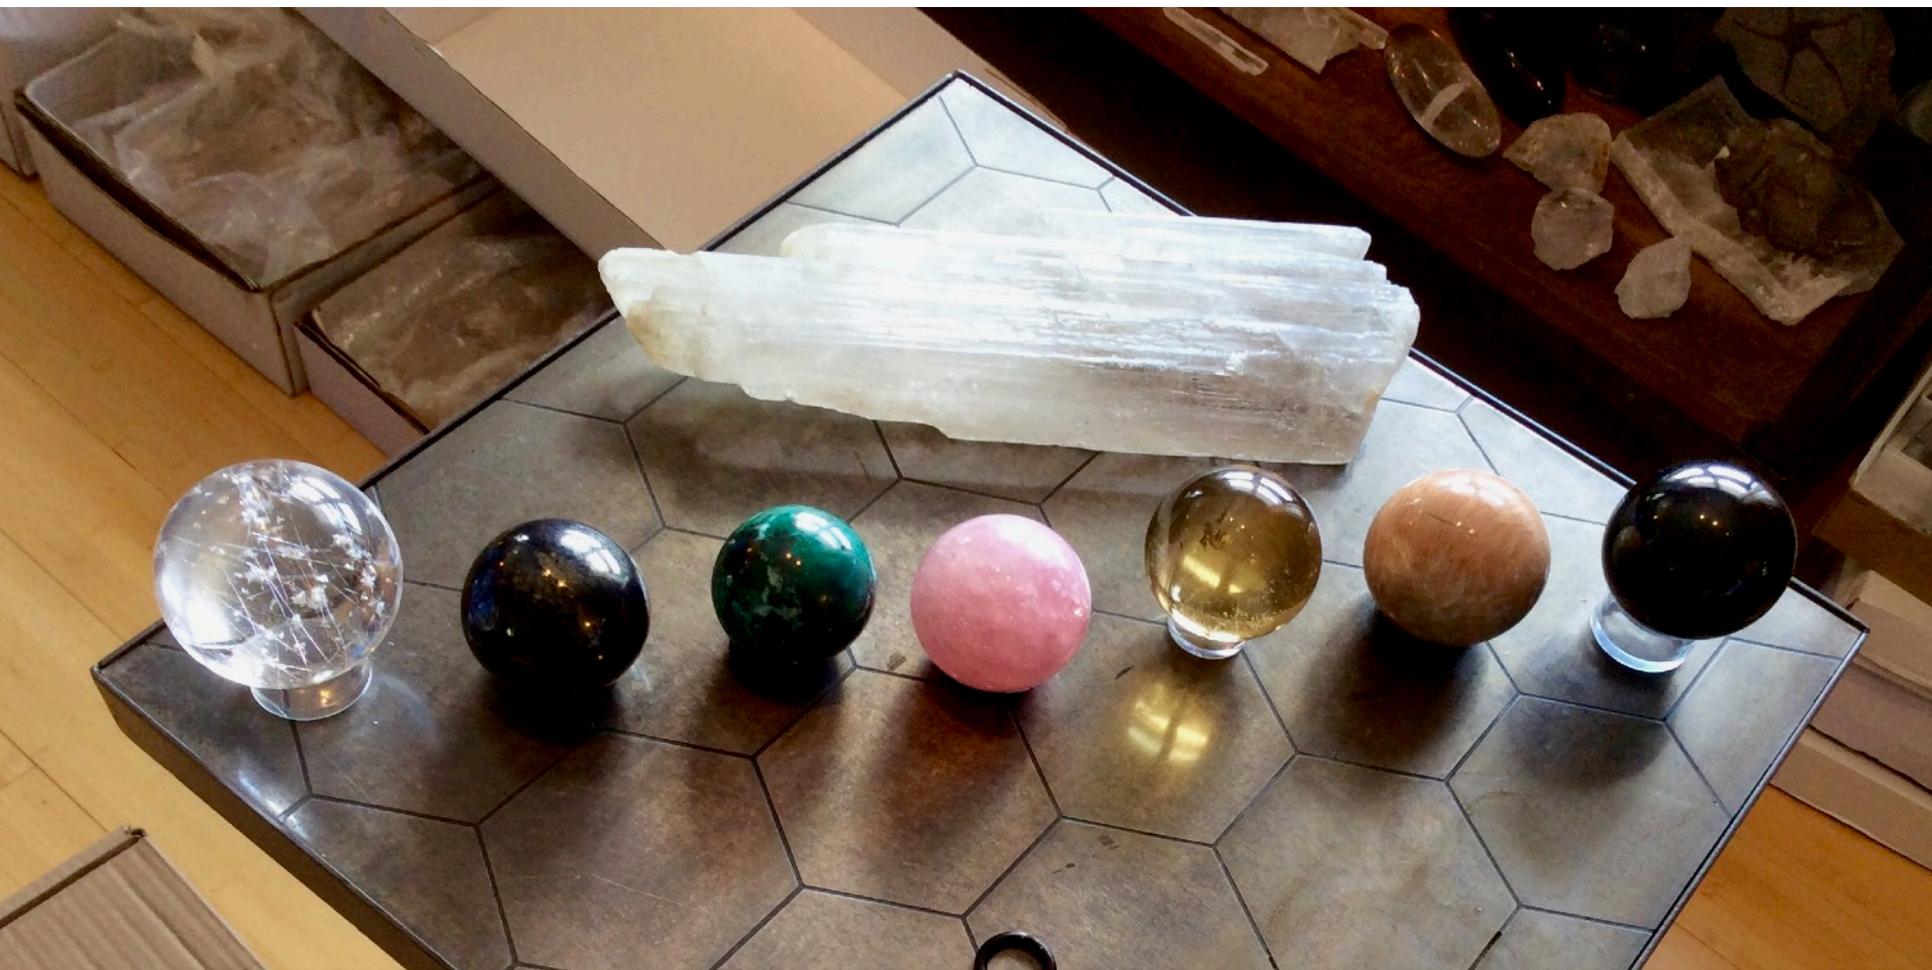

Selenite Wand with Rutilated Quartz Crystal

These natural Selenite crystals from Mexico are called Angel Wing or Fishtail formation.
